

Sentiments of Christmas

by Caroline Sims

A sadness pervades the day, to become.

Waking upon realisations,
of a day,
to step,
forward into,
to become seen.

Memories of what has been,
flood into thoughts,
with empty chairs,
of long missed people,
shouting their presence,
still to be noticed,
walking into my dreams.