Who Was She?

by Hilary Cole

The golden haired assistant looked inquisitively at her customers.

It wasn't every day Three Bears came into your store.

There was a large ,manly dressed bear ; a medium femininely dressed bear and a modestly dressed small bear , holding his Mama's paw.

"We'd like to buy some furniture, please" said the largest bear, Papa Bear.

"It has to be made of sustainable woods and three different sizes "

"Of course " smiled the young assistant , " come with me".

So they all gathered in the furniture area of the store. The young assistant pointed out three beds made of sustainable woods .They also included mattresses.

The Three Bears nodded in pleasure.

"Just right. " They all said.

"Can I try mine Mama ?" Said the smallest bear.

"Of course, dear"

So he did.

" Oh it's so soft - I like it "

So they bought them .

Next they wandered into the dining chair department.

There were three chairs of differing sizes, made of sustainable wood.

The Three Bears nodded in pleasure.

"Just right " They all said.

"I will try my chair" said the largest bear.
So he did.
"It's so comfortable" he said. "I like it".
So they bought them all .

Next, they wandered into the food hall where Mama Bear was hoping to find some gluten free porridge.
She had a problem in that area !
Eventually, they found some . Mama Bear was relieved.
"Just right "She smiled.
So they bought it .
The Golden haired assistant was pleased to have helped them and coolly waved them goodbye.

A couple of days later, whilst the bears were out , they were broken intoand on their CCTV system saw a golden haired girl trying out all their new purchases.
She was quite fussy and obviously did not appreciate sustainable furniture or gluten free porridge.and she had made quite a mess in the bedroom , dining room and kitchen.

Thankfully, she wasn't the golden haired assistant.

BUT WHO WAS SHE ?

(The Three Bears returned to the store to replace their damaged goods with their Eco house insurance policy).
