

Bourne
toWrite...
creative writing
workshops

Being in Love

by Paul Hunter

Being in love you know.
It's like you're having a beautiful dream.
You're acting in drama you're about to stream.
You smell an orange you're trying to zest
You're wishing and hoping.
Already undressed?

Being in love you know.
It's like you're body is burning in the sun.
You're living, laughing, rediscovering fun.
You smell the blossom all around your head.
A carpet of flowers.
Maybe your bed?

Being in love you know.
It's like dancing all night till you drop.
You know the feelings you don't want to stop.
You smell the fresh rain all tingling and wet.
You're a bit apprehensive.
Is it time yet?

Being in love you know.
It's like singing at the top of your voice
You're full of excitement, a time to rejoice.
You smell the fried onions all savoury and hot.
You've made a decision.
To give it all you've got.

