

Dilara's Poem

A little poem – just to say apologies – I could not stay but be assured – I'm not alone for the time was right – to go back home.

So I write with love Selwan and Fatma for I am yours for ever after I'm now a diamond in the night with my angel wings I shine so bright.

And I love the name you chose for me printed on my wings for all to see my friends up here – they all said 'Gosh!' when they read my lovely name – Dilosh.

I said Dilara is my proper name Dilosh and Dilara are the same I told them that my Mum and Dad would love me lots with any name I had.

I adore you both and hold you dear and both please rest for I'll appear in dreams you have – they'll be so sweet. for I know again one day we'll meet.

So thanks for having me with you it was short (I know) and then I flew as gently as a turtle dove to my other family up above.
