Crazy

by Sho Botham

I can't think about that right now
If I do, I'll go crazy
Crazier than I feel already
I'll think about that tomorrow

Tomorrow never comes
It's my way of avoidance
Pondering on it, and saying
I'll think about that tomorrow

It makes me crazy that others
Judge me for admitting that I need to avoid it today and
I'll think about that tomorrow

It hurts me that I'll go crazy
If I think about that today
I know what I'm like, so I say
I'll think about that tomorrow

You used to be on my page

And understand my ways

you think I'm crazy, if I say

I'll think about that tomorrow

But is it really me who's crazy?

You want to push me into crazy

If I go crazy things will change and

I'll think about that today